Turn it up. Tone it down. On demand.

Compelling Conversations

Whether it's business development, building relationships or dealing with delicate interpersonal conflict you need to be compelling in all your conversations. Are you too meek and mild - or like a bull in a china shop? Learn to be confident, assertive and impressive yet warm, engaging and robust.

Compelling Leadership

Do you inspire people to trust and follow you? You can show vulnerability and imperfection, yet retain the respect of your team. But do you?

Are you strong on empathy and engagement, without compromising standards?

Compelling Presentations

Are your presentations creating the best impression - or letting you down?

Do you over-rely on slides and bullet points or are you professional, engaging and impressive?

Do you inspire your audience - or just speak at them from a weak script?

Not because you are weak...

Because you are ready to grow.

Compelling Sales, Networking and Negotiating

Whether in conversation, a sales pitch or in writing, are you getting the best outcomes from your networking and negotiations - and successes from your sales activity?

Can you think-on-your-feet and speak off-the-cuff without getting all tongue tied? Or do you just draw a blank?

Compelling Video Presence

Are you confident and authentic on camera? Or does your 'Video Presence' let you down?

For all your conversations, meetings and presentations it's very easy to come across as dull and uncomfortable. Don't lose credibility on camera. Be a 'lifted' version of yourself.

Compelling Media Interviews

Whether it's TV, radio or online interviews – or being 'door-stepped' – you need to keep your composure, know what to say (very briefly) and what NOT to say.

Remain composed. Get your message across. Use soundbites. Answer the question you want to answer. Whether it's good news or bad.

"I saved £10,000 in just ONE conversation!"

"I could not have done it without Scott's training and coaching giving me the confidence to go in there and actually ask for what I wanted."

Maggie Georgopoulos, author, Up The Ladder In A Skirt

He has appeared in various Courts and Tribunals and can share his expertise in delivering powerful, compelling presentations, with Gravitas.

For 15 years he has been delivering interactive training sessions. In all his speaking and coaching work, Scott brings the skills of the legal world into your business world.

Whilst a member of a young professionals global network, Scott was a European Debating Champion and trained numerous World Debating Champions.

You can learn techniques for Thinking On Your Feet and Speaking Off-the-Cuff for those tricky moments when there is no time to prepare.

As a mentor and Executive Coach, Scott can help you problem-solve by drawing on your own inner brilliance - and inspire when you need a little help.
